

Gentlemen: WHERE WILL IT STOP? The consolidation of media sources is severely impacting American democracy, concentrating the media's voice and stifling alternative views. And now i read that there are plans to loosen the cross-ownership (TV and Newspaper) regulations....

I live in Houston, a city where the radio media is dominated by one or two major corporations. How can alternative views (or even different stories) be publicized when stations actually share the same news department? And now we are going to allow the TV and newspapers to follow suit?

I see NO benefit to the American public in this. The loosening of the rules will help ensure that the American public hears only one side, one view, and will hasten our slide to becoming sheep rather than free, independent people.

Thanks for considering my comments.